1	The smoke of the incense, together with the prayers of God's people,		you have taken your great power and have begun to reign.
2	And out of the smoke locusts came down on the earth		who had been redeemed from the earth.
3	But in the days when the seventh angel is about to sound his trumpet, the mystery of God		will be accomplished, just as he announced to his servants the prophets."
4	The inhabitants of the earth will gloat over them and will celebrate by sending each other gifts,		because these two prophets had tormented those who live on the earth.
5	"We give thanks to you, Lord God Almighty, the One who is and who was, because		went up before God from the angel's hand.
6	The great dragon was hurled down—that ancient serpent		and were given power like that of scorpions of the earth.
7	They triumphed over him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony;		and to exercise its authority for forty-two months.
8	The beast was given a mouth to utter proud words and blasphemies		and threw them into the great winepress of God's wrath.
9	No one could learn the song except the 144,000		they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death.
10	The angel swung his sickle on the earth, gathered its grapes		called the devil, or Satan, who leads the whole world astray.
